

Does Frontier Charge for Name Correction? Complete Passenger Guide

Booking a flight comes with its share of details to keep in mind, but one of the most critical is ensuring your name is entered correctly. Even minor typos in your first, middle, or last name can lead to significant problems at check-in or boarding. This raises a key question among travelers: does Frontier charge for name correction? Understanding Frontier Airlines' name correction policy, associated fees, and the steps needed to resolve errors can save time, stress, and money.

This guide explores the nuances of Frontier's name correction rules, what constitutes a minor correction versus a major change, when fees may apply, and how contacting ☎ +1-(877)-622-[07.07] can help passengers navigate this process efficiently.

Frontier Airlines and Name Accuracy Rules

Frontier Airlines is an ultra-low-cost carrier, meaning that while ticket prices are affordable, policies are stricter than those of traditional airlines. Name accuracy is not just a formality—it is a security requirement. All tickets must match the passenger's government-issued photo ID exactly.

Frontier differentiates between minor name corrections and full passenger name changes. Minor corrections, such as fixing typos or missing letters, are often permitted. Full name changes—like switching a ticket to another person—are generally not allowed.

Passengers unsure whether their case qualifies for a correction can contact ☎ +1-(877)-622-[07.07] for clarification and guidance.

Does Frontier Charge for Name Correction?

Yes, Frontier Airlines may charge a fee for name correction, but whether a fee applies depends on the type of correction, the timing of the request, and the fare purchased.

Minor corrections are often low-cost or even free, especially if requested shortly after booking. Major corrections or requests that resemble a full passenger name change may involve higher fees or even require a new ticket.

For accurate fee details specific to your booking, call ☎ +1-(877)-622-[07.07] before making any changes.

Difference Between Name Correction and Name Change

A name correction refers to minor adjustments that do not change the identity of the traveler, such as:

- Fixing spelling errors
- Adding or removing hyphens

- Correcting initials or middle names

A name change, however, is when the ticket is altered to transfer it to another individual. Frontier strictly limits full name changes because tickets are generally non-transferable.

Understanding this distinction can prevent denied boarding or additional charges. Confirm your situation with ☎ +1-(877)-622-[07.07] to know whether your case is a correction or a change.

Common Name Corrections Allowed by Frontier

Frontier allows minor name corrections in cases such as:

- Typographical errors in first or last name
- Swapped first and last name
- Missing or incorrect middle initial

If your ticket contains minor errors, these can often be corrected quickly through Frontier's customer service. Contact ☎ +1-(877)-622-[07.07] to submit a request and confirm whether a fee applies.

Major Name Changes and Restrictions

Major changes, such as transferring a ticket to a different person, are generally not allowed. Frontier tickets are non-transferable, meaning a ticket purchased for one person cannot usually be used by another.

If a major change is necessary due to exceptional circumstances, approval is case-by-case, and fees may be substantial. Always confirm your options with ☎ +1-(877)-622-[07.07].

Name Correction Fees Explained

Frontier does not publish a fixed fee for name corrections because fees vary by:
